Brief Summary of Activities

Over the year 2022 Charles University will collaborate with UNFPA EECARO in the following three areas:

- Implementation of a "bursharship" programme which entails a two-year Master's Degree study programme, based primarily on distance learning principles. Charles University will manage admission of students, delivery of the curriculum and administration of students' performance.
- Continuation of CUNI's annual Population Forecasting training course, in virtual or in physical mode, as circumstances dictate.
- Continuation of CUNI's annual Population, Policies and Development training course, this year focused on principles and strategies related to Demographic Resilience, thereby contributing to operationalization of EECARO's Demographic Resilience programme.

In addition to the above, CUNI will contribute to preparatory activities aimed at assessing impact of their capacity building efforts over past years by keeping track of CUNI alumni's careers.

Due to current political circumstances and funding uncertainties the agreed AWP implementation remains at present limited to one specific activity, but is subject to expansion as circumstances allow.
